Looking for the World's Best Designers

Colour, Material and Finish (CMF) Designer Graduate - 3 years experience

Priestmangoode
16 August 2011

Priestmangoode are looking for a motivated individual with a passion for design to join our diverse team of product, interior and industrial designers.

The CMF position is a varied role and you will be working on a broad spectrum of projects including transportation interiors, hotel environments and products.

We believe the selection and development of colour, material and finishes is paramount to the success of these projects and are looking for a team player with an interest in colour and materials trends.

This role would ideally suit a recent graduate looking to make their first steps into the design industry. It is important for you to have:

- A relevant degree: product, industrial or interior design.
- Creativity, an eye for colour and the ability to select palettes of materials.
- Knowledge and understanding of manufacturing techniques and suitable application of materials.
- Aptitude for both trend and cultural research and knowledge of current trends.
- Good communication skills, to develop new finishes with our network of suppliers.
- Strong presentation skills, the job will involve compiling sample boards, specifications and presentations - knowledge of Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign will be useful.
- Organisational skills, you will be responsible for developing or specifying materials for a complete interior and also managing the material library.

Please email your CV and portfolio demonstrating these skills together with a covering letter to jobs@priestmangoode.com
